DOCKING HERITAGE GROUP

DOCKING UNION WORKHOUSE PROJECT 2020-21

Using the census returns, register transcripts and other available records volunteers have undertaken a project to identify the inmates and staff of the Docking Union Workhouse from 1841-1911.

The first page is a list as prepared by the enumerator at the time of the census. There follows a series of mini biographies of the staff and inmates.

It should be noted that the enumerator may have recorded people incorrectly because they were either unsure themselves of their facts, such as date and place of birth, or unable to provide the necessary details through age, impairment or illness. Where possible they have been researched and recorded correctly but some people have been impossible to identify beyond what was recorded on the day.

The date of this census was 2nd April 1871.

The original copies of the census return data we have consulted are held by The National Archives (reference RG10/ 1858).

DOCKING WORKHOUSE PROJECT
STAFF AND INMATES IN RESIDENCE ON APRIL 2ND 1871

The story starts in Heacham, Norfolk where on the 1st August 1840 the headline was - Sheep Stealing - "Robert Newton, aged 40, Thomas Newton, aged 30, and William Newton, aged 32, stood charged with stealing two rams, the property Charles Fawcett Neville Rolfe, Esq. of Heacham."
After a lengthy trial it was established they had gone through a hedge onto the land of Mr Rolfe and stolen the rams. The Newton brothers had cut the rams up and left some their body parts in a wheat field close by, they also left a sack with around 40lb of mutton inside. When their houses were searched traces of blood were found and mutton fat, knuckle mutton and sheeps pluck in an oven boiler.
All three men were found guilty and sentenced to 15 years transportation.
Robert arrived in Tasmania via the ship 'Duncan' which sailed from Sheerness. The ship left on the 16th December 1840 and arrived in Tasmania on the 3rd March 1841, with 259 male prisoners. His report said he had been given 14 days previously for abusing his master. The gaol report said 'bad character'. His trade was shepherd and farm labourer. He died in Hobart, Tasmania from ascites in 1857.
When Robert was transported he left behind his wife Mary and five children. Mary lost her son, aged 12, in 1847 and his burial record reveals he died in the Docking Union Workhouse. Her eldest daughter Mary went to live with her aunt in Heacham, in 1851, as her mother was most likely struggling without her husbands support. She is listed as a pauper servant and she has one illegitimate daughter named Harriet.
In 1861 we find the daughter Mary in Docking Union Workhouse with two illegitimate children, Harriet, Mary Ann and William. Mary married Philip Sands in 1864, and had two children, sadly, he died in 1867. She then married Thomas Staines and had three more children. She died in Heacham in 1904.
We find her daughter Mary Ann, aged 18, in the Docking Union Workhouse in 1871 with an illegitimate daughter Sabrina. In 1891 she appears again in the workhouse with two more illegitimate children, George and Harriet. In 1897 she married Richard Farrow Pierce.
Her son George, along with four other young men, was sentenced to five years imprisonment for raping Anne Richardson (17) in Heacham, Norfolk in 1898. He was imprisoned in HM Prison Portland, Dorset.
In 1905 Doris Gertrude Newton Burton was born. Her mother was Gertrude Burton and we find young Doris living with Richard Farrow Pierce and Mary Ann nee Newton, in 1911, She is listed as granddaughter. This means she must have been George's daughter. We find Gertrude in 1911 living in Exton's Road Workhouse, King's Lynn with two other illegitimate children, Edith Maud and Alice Mary. Incredibly, this is the fourth generation of family who have ended up in the workhouse since Robert was transported.
George married Annie Elizabeth Jeffery in Worksop, Nottinghamshire in 1909. They had a daughter Laura in 1911. By now he was using the name George Newton Earle, possibly the name of his father? They would go on to have six more children.
George would get in trouble for stealing wheat in 1918 and fowl in 1919 but escaped with fines. He died in 1927 in Oldcotes, Nottinghamshire.
